

Tamale RMS®

Get your research anywhere, any time

Tamale RMS is the industry's first research management solution and provides the investment management industry with a comprehensive solution that brings automation and efficiency to the investment research process

High-performing investment managers know that quality research leads to well-informed investment decisions and better returns for investors. They also know that timely access to this information is critical. Yet, many firms are encumbered by inefficiencies that hinder their ability to collect, share, access, and prioritize the large volume of data they are inundated with, let alone access it from anywhere.

Tamale RMS is the industry's first research management solution and provides the investment management industry with a comprehensive solution that brings automation and efficiency to the investment research process through its powerful search engine and multiple access options, including the new Tamale Web.

Get the right information, instantly. With Tamale Web, you can retrieve all of the information on a company, sector, topic, or fund manager with the click of a mouse from one centralized library and choose how you access it—from our feature rich desktop application or from your mobile device.

Automate and free up time to focus on what matters. Work more efficiently by automating tedious tasks such as email processing.

Bring key information together for better, faster decisions. Filter and search for data in seconds and seamlessly integrate internal research with market and fundamental data.

Stay in sync and collaborate like never before. Subscribe to notifications based upon any criteria—topic, watchlist, submitter, type of data.

Work from anywhere. Stay embedded in the workflow of your team and input and consume research from the home, the road, the air—anywhere there is wireless network.

Improve Investor confidence. Quickly respond to investor inquiries and demonstrate a solid, repeatable investment process.
