

Advent Revenue Center Release 15.2 System Requirements

General Notes

- Advent tests only the English language versions of third-party products such as Microsoft Windows operating systems, Microsoft SQL Server, Microsoft Office, and more.
- Operating systems and configuration options not listed on this page are not supported.
- Advent tests products with the latest service packs. If a product requires a specific service pack, it's noted.
- Advent provides performance and capacity guidelines for planning purposes only. Because many variables affect the performance of your system and the size of your data files, Advent assumes no liability for hardware purchase decisions. Please consult your systems consultant about specific configuration decisions.
- You can install Advent Revenue Center 15.2 on one server or in a two-server configuration. In a two-server configuration, you have a database server and a separate application server. The hardware and operating system requirements are the same for both servers.
- You must install Advent Revenue Center using a SQL Server Login that belongs to the sysadmin server role (you are not required to use "sa"). For runtime operations, however, you can use a SQL Server Login which belongs to the public server role.

Backup and Recovery Strategy

As you set up your server environment, you must plan your backup and recovery strategy. This may include hardware and software for possible tape backup and mirroring. Microsoft SQL Server offers backup and restore services, but third-party software may work best for the backup of the Windows Server itself. Advent recommends that you discuss your backup and recovery strategy with your network consultant and IT department.
